MAY NOT BE INSANE.

Stanley Yackhoff, the Bulgarian who has been acting queerly at the laborers' camp at Lock and Dam No. 23, above this city, and who was placed in jail for safekeeping, may not be insane, as it was at first thought. Yackhoff has had his leg broken in three places by a piece of timber which fell on it, and in some manner had gotten the instructions of the doctor confused and walked all the time. His walking in the night caused the men at the dam think he lacked some of his mental faculties and they locked him up. Several physicians who saw him at the jail said he was sane as anybody, but had gone through a great deal of suffering. He will be given a trial in a few days for lunacy and no doubt will be set free.

MRS. MARY F. LAUDERBACK DEAD.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Mary F. Lauderback, aged 49, died at her home on West Second street, after an illness of six weeks. She is survived by a husband, Isaac Lauderback, and five children, four daughters and one son—Mrs. Horace Shupp, Mrs. Iva Gall, Mrs. Milburn Hurn and Miss Grace Lauderback, and Mr. Rufus Lauderback. The funeral will be held from the late residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. M. Lital, of the Third Street M. E. church, officiating. Interment in the Maysville cemetery.

LITERARY PROGRAM SPLENDID.

The joint program of the Athenaeum and Adelphi Literary Societies of the Maysville High School, which was rendered Friday afternoon in the auditorium of the High School building, was pronounced by all that were present to be the best ever given by these societies. The officers of both societies in opening speeches, promised the best year ever to be had by the societies and judging from the initial appearance, their promises will be kept.

DECLARED INSANE.

James O'Donnell, who was arrested Friday morning by the local officers on the charge of being a person of unsound mind, was tried for lunacy Friday afternoon before County Judge W. H. Rice and a jury. After hearing the unfortunate man answer a few questions, the jury declared him insane and ordered that he be sent to the Lexington Asylum. He was lodged in jail until a guard from that institution can arrive.

How To Avoid The Motor Car That Bags At the Knees

The automobile is curiously like the human body—an assembling of independent parts.

The man-machine is made up of muscle and bone, nerve and blood, water and fat, waste matter and brains.

As far as locomotion is concerned, neither machine is any stronger than its weakest 'link.'

Mark the badly co-ordinated man. He looks O. K., but when there are stairs to climb or pace to be forced, he puffs and pants, and one concludes that his ruddy color came from a recent facial massage; that his bellows need mending, that his muscles aren't; that his "strength" is mere scenery and that his sound appearance is merely tailor made.

Haven't you seen automobiles just like that, look "pretty" but won't take you from Here to There and Back?

The "Wonder Car" that the Square Deal Man sells won't 'bag at the knees,' and he can prove by the testimony of delighted owners that it will take you There and Back, not once, but many times, and that it is the lowest "After Cost" car on the market today. If you are a prospective car owner, 'phone us and we will be glad to take you for a trial spin in the Maxwell "25."

THE OPTICAL FAKER

There are some parts of the country which are so thinly settled that traveling optometrists are a necessity. The optometrist in a fixed location is inclined to call all traveling optometrists fakers, but the real optical faker is quite a different proposition from a legitimate traveling optometrist. The optical faker never goes to the same town twice in a generation unless as the years pass he actually forgets he has been there before, and while in one town he uses all the arts of impressiveness to take away all the money he can, and leave behind as little value in the way of glasses as he possibly can. The impressiveness of the faker would not fool for one instant people of intelligence and experience, but unfortunately there are sufficient of the other class to keep many fakers going well, were it not for the optometry laws, which are curtailing very markedly the activities of this class. Times are not what they used to be.

On the contrary, the traveling optometrist is conducting business in practically the same manner as are his confreres in fixed locations. He covers a series of towns which he visits at regular intervals, so that those whom he supplies with glasses can come back to him and recommend others to visit him for his expert advice.

Those who attack the optical faker must make a difference between the real faker who never comes but once to a certain town, and the respectable traveling optometrist who has a practice in a circuit of small towns, because none of these towns is large enough to keep him busy.—The Optical Journal and Review of Optometry. [Adv.]

G. W. C. JOHNSTON

Former Maysville Business Man.
Killed At Pittsburg
Wednesday.

Captain George W. C. Johnston, who for several years was one of the active heads of the old Keystone Commercial Company, at the corner of Third and Sutton streets, now the E. L. Manchester Produce Company, and who was well known here, was the victim of a sad affair at Pittsburg Wednesday, as the following from the Pittsburg Post will show:

George W. C. Johnston, 57 years old, secretary and treasurer of the Pittsburg Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company, died in the Southside Hospital last evening as a result of shock and injuries from a fall of eighteen feet into a pit on the warehouse property yesterday afternoon. G. W. T. Johnston, 54 years old, chief engineer of the warehouse system, who was severely injured in the same accident, is in the same hospital. The men were not related.

The two men walked out on a board across an excavation to inspect the work near the power plant. The board broke and both fell into the pit. At the hospital it was found George Johnston had suffered fractures of the collar bone, shoulder blade and ribs and internal injuries, as well as a scalp wound.

Mr. Johnston, the engineer, last night was conscious and considered to be in a serious but not critical condition, no bones being broken and his injuries consisting of severe contusions. He also suffers from shock. He resides at 230 Roehle street, Knoxville. He entered the employ of the Keystone Commercial Company, under Mr. Johnston, about seventeen years ago and was transferred to the terminal when the warehouses were built about ten years ago.

Well Known River Man.

George W. C. Johnston resided at 5740 Aylesboro avenue, Squirrel Hill, and was known the whole length of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers from this port to New Orleans, having been associated with his brother-in-law, Captain James A. Henderson, for many years in the operation of pack boats and the conducting of Mardi Gras excursions and other large river enterprises. He was also well known in the hay, grain and produce business as president of the Keystone Commercial Company. He was an active member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburg Industrial Commission. In addition to these he was vice president and a director of the Ohio and Mississippi Navigation Company, a director and vice president of the Pittsburg Transfer Company and a director of the Keystone National Bank. He was also a member of the Duquesne, Traffic and Youghiogony Country Clubs, the Sixth Presbyterian church and the Pittsburg Press Club.

He was a son of the late Alexander P. and Harriett Persell Johnston, of Cincinnati, in which city he was born. He was married about twenty years ago to Emma Townley, of Cincinnati, who is left with three children: Townley, Genevieve and Elizabeth. He also leaves two brothers, John R. and S. R. Johnston, of Pittsburg, and two sisters, Mrs. James A. Henderson, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Joseph Kirkup, of Cincinnati.

POLICE COURT.

Police Judge John L. Whitaker had two cases before him Friday afternoon. Frank Montague, who fell between a moving freight train Thursday afternoon and escaped without injury, although the train passed over him as he lay on the track, was before him on the charge of being drunk. He was fined $5.00.

Dan Carpenter was given the old reliable $6.50 for being on a plain drunk.

BURNING OF LEAVES

A Nuisance That Should Be Remedied
—City Should Have Ordinance To Regulate Burning.

Now that the time of the year has arrived when leaves have begun to fall, most every one who has trees around his premises is burning leaves. This is quite necessary in a number of cases, but it seems that there should be a time set as to when the leaves should be burned.

Some people even have a habit of burning leaves after night. This is not only dangerous as a means of causing fire, but is also unhealthy, and unpleasant to those who live near by and have to sleep in rooms that have been filled with smoke.

In a number of cities an ordinance specifies the time when leaves may be burned. It seems that such an ordinance should be passed here by the City Council and should be enforced.

But, better still, if you have fallen leaves on your premises, why not have them hauled away?

"WIN MY CHUM" WEEK

To Be Observed At The Third Street M. E. Church From November 7th To 14th.

The Epworth League of the Third Street M. E. church is planning to again observe "Win My Chum" Week this year from November 7 to 14, with special services each night. This is in keeping with an church-wide movement for the winning of young people.

There will be a different speaker for each evening, fine music and good fellowship. A complete program will be given to the press in a few days, as soon as the speakers are secured. An effort is being made by several of the young folks of the league to organize a "Gospel Team," and if they are successful in its organization, great work is expected of them in this campaign. Later they expect to do quite a little uplift work in the tenement districts.

RED MEN BUST.

After several months of following their peaceful pursuits, the members of Wyandotte Tribe I. O. R. M., will again go on the warpath. A paleface will be given the Adoption degree at the regular council of the tribe next Tuesday night. A large crowd is expected. Let all the degree chiefs be there on the spot ready for the warpath.

AUTO TRUCKS DOING BIG BUSINESS.

The auto truck men of this city are reaping a rich harvest today taking the crowd of people from this city to the barbecue grounds at Cartmell's Woods on the Mapleleaf pike. The price asked by the truckmen varies from 15 to 25 cents one way. At this price the autos are packed every trip.

FLEMING COUNTY LADIES IN CITY.

The following Fleming county ladies were in this city Friday shopping: Mrs. J. W. Lee, Mrs. O. R. Bright, Mrs. R. N. Applegate, Mrs. C. Manley, Mrs. Sam Crane, Mrs. C. M. Lee and Mrs. J. W. Overley.

PURCHASES HUMMOBILE.

Mr. Clark Rogers, of this city, has purchased a new 1915 model Hummobile from Kirk Bros. Garage. The car has been delivered and Clark will join the throng of auto enthusiasts.

Mr. Rollie Ryan, of Flemingsburg, was in this city Friday on business.

ARRESTED LITTLE WILLIE.

Constable James McNamara arrested Willie "Peg" Hickie Friday morning near the L. & N. railroad depot. Willie is charged with escaping from Prisoner Guard Ryan several months ago, owing the county thirty days. The usual ten to one will be given him and he will be in the lockup about a year. Since his escape Hickie has been giving this city a wide berth and as far as the police know this is his first time in Maysville since his getaway. Evidently he thought he would take in the barbecue for a change.

TELEPHONE INSTALLED AT BARBECUE.

The Maysville Telephone Company has been busy for the last few days installing a telephone for the big Democratic barbecue which will take place at Cartmell's Woods today. The telephone will be in direct communication with any 'phone in the system and will prove a great help to those who attend the affair.

REMARKABLE TICKET.

There are some interesting facts about the Republican State ticket this year. It is a young men's ticket. Of the nine candidates, only two of them are more than 40 years of age and none of them has reached the half-century mark. Seven of the candidates range between the ages of 33 and 38.

Ed. Morrow, heading the ticket, is barely 35 years of age, while the oldest man on the ticket is Judge James P. Lewis, who is 45.

Of all the candidates only two have ever held an elective office—Judge Lewis Walker and Judge James P. Lewis. Several of the other candidates have held appointive offices, and have done yeoman service for their party.

Taking it as a whole, the Republican ticket this year is one of the best the party has ever put forth and deserves the support of every loyal citizen.

When you go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2, vote the "Log Cabin" straight and help the young men.

Have you heard of Creelins? Creelins who is Secretary of State, and his automobile desk? If not, hunt up the Hon. C. F. Creelins' automobile record and you will not be surprised he forgot how many days were necessary to advertise the taxation amendment. Creelins has had a difficult task keeping the license record. In fact 133 forged applications at $5 each makes a debt of $665 due the State.

Mr. Creelins has had trouble with his cash. When the "famous thing" got to register—to stop. It was found by the State Inspector and Examiner there were discrepancies in every set, three times out of four the desk was short, ranging from $80.00 to $480.00, yet not a word said and seemingly no action was taken this money to the Commonwealth. Why, the register just kept ringing up until Mr. T. became ashamed of it himself, and he, the goodness of his heart, handed Mr. Gooder a check for $1,303.66, which he turned into State Treasurer, with the understanding there more to follow. This is from a Democratic Inspector and Examiner. Some folks think that is the only one. There are others.

The friends of the Hon. Bill Bryan are using the political pulpit on him but with results that are far from gratifying, and they fear that his case is hopeless.

OUR CHRISTMAS MONEY.

Christmas looms up ahead of us, and the problem must soon be faced of what to spend and where to spend it.

There should be but one answer to this question.

Prosperity is ahead of us again; therefore, let us make this a joyful Christmas to one and all.

Let us make it a prosperous Christmas to this town by buying from our local stores, by keeping our money at home.

A liberal spirit of giving this Christmas will restore confidence and enhance our optimistic feeling for the future.

The patronizing of our home merchants will enable us to increase the prosperity of our town and will give each and every one of us a feeling of just pride in the fact that we are "good citizens all around."

Let's make it a "home Christmas," and let's begin now to keep that money in circulation at home.

The National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis has been compelled to cut its dividend rate from 6 to 4 per cent. The reason assigned is that there is small demand for loans and that the interest rate for these is very low. This is suggestive. It is evident that there can be no large industrial or business activity in this bank's circle of clients. There is an ocean of idle money in this country, but there is no business to use it except among the "war trade" enterprises.

There are some interesting facts connected with this campaign regarding Mr. Morrow. Forty years ago Mr. Morrow's father was a candidate on the Republican ticket to succeed Governor McCreary, and now comes the son who is after the same honors. Judge Morrow was defeated at that time, but his son, Ed., will redeem himself and will lead to victory with a majority of more than 25,000. Watch these figures.

Up to date, Morrow has made eighty-six political speeches as against twenty made by Stanley. Morrow is of the people, for the people and by the people, while Stanley stands for boss rule and the cliques.

Republicans and Progressives are getting together all over the State and it looks like Morrow will have one of the biggest majorities ever given to a candidate for Governor.

"Not much use trying to get ahead in this world," says an exchange. Nonsense, brother. Spend half the night at Mike's place and you will have one in the morning.

Have you heard of Hamlett? Not Shakespeare's Hamlet, but Barksdale, he of the State Superintendent of Schools, down at Frankfort.

His Good Qualities.

"Very much, indeed. He's the right sort. One of those 'man-among-men' ministers, you know. Comes over to the house occasionally and smokes a pipe; plays on our baseball team; good at tennis and golf and seems to believe in getting pleasure out of this life."

"I see."
"Yes, and he's interested in the things we laymen are interested in. He discusses the problems of the day. I tell you, he's a fine fellow."

MORROW SHOWS DIFFERENCE

Between Democrat and Republican Platforms On Liquor Question.

SOMEBODY RECEIVED
BY LARGE CROWDS.

Georgetown, Ky., October 21.—Hon. E. P. Morrow made the first speech of a whirlwind campaign through the Bluegrass this morning at the Scott county Courthouse, and made a strong impression on those who heard him by his incisive attacks upon Democratic methods of State administration and Democratic broken promises.

To the voters here, upset as Georgetown has been for years by attempts to get the town effectively dry under the local option laws, Mr. Morrow's discussion of this phase of the campaign attracted the greatest attention.

"You have heard it said," said Mr. Morrow, "that on the liquor question, the Republican and Democratic platforms are the same and that Mr. Stanley and I take the same position toward this question. This is utterly untrue."

Platforms Not Alike.

"The Republican and Democratic State platforms are not alike. They were not written by the same people. They were not written for the same purpose. The Republican platform pledges the party support to the local option law, and not only that but pledges the willing and active efforts of the party to make such amendments as will strengthen it, and make it more effective in accomplishing the results the people of the State intend. 'The Democrat platform merely states that the party will uphold the local option law and stops there. It gives no pledge of any improvement in it or any strengthening of its clauses.'

"The history of the Democratic party in Kentucky for the last four years is a record of broken promises and pledges. It gives the people of the State nothing to hope for any further regulation of the liquor traffic, by saying that there should now be further agitation."

Stanley Against Local Option.
"Its candidate is a man who from the start has been against local option. He has fought against it, declared against it, made speeches against it, and proclaimed his contempt of those who favored it. Harry McCreary, who is shamelessly supine; him, and during the primary that Stanley was the willing tool of the whiskey trust, doing their bidding, in State and national affairs wherever the opportunity offered."

"I have always been for local option. I have worked for it and will work to uphold and strengthen it. I receive in it and in the possibility of its being strengthened to meet every changing need of the people."

"Will you trust administration of the local option law to its friends or will you abandon it in the house of its most persistent and most implacable enemy?"

Mr. Morrow related the sources of the campaign fund with which he is making his race for Governor, and challenged Mr. Stanley to likewise reveal the names of the contributors to his campaign fund.

The meeting was attended by a very enthusiastic crowd, including many Democrats, and at the close several students of Georgetown University, who said they had always been Democrats, declared to him their intention of supporting him. Mr. Morrow was introduced by J. C. Porter, Republican county chairman.

TAX PROVES FAILURE

Revenue From Income Assessment a Disappointment.

Condition of the National Treasury Shows That Grave Miscalculations Were Made by the Democrats in Shaping Financial Legislation.

The income tax has proved a sore disappointment to its framers and to those who ardently championed it as a large revenue producer.

This much is admitted. It is not admitted, however, that it has proved a failure. The excuse is still given that the government has not been able to get it properly enforced and that many incomes in excess of $3,000 a year continue to go untaxed.

But the failure to get great results from the income tax brings the administration leaders face to face with the problem of raising funds for the maintenance of the government and the unwelcome necessity of new and additional tax legislation at the coming session of congress.

Viewed by experts, such legislation will have to take the form of remodeling of the tariff, new special emergency revenue taxes or an increase in the income tax either by raising the rate or by reduction of the exemption minimum.

Either of these plans will provoke a storm of criticism, and it will be severe, especially should the change be made in the income tax.

The bill was drawn by Representative Cordell Hull, Tennessee. He and others associated with him predicted that the individual tax alone would yield the government fully $70,000,000 a year, and he defended it from the assaults of sectionalism in the argument that men should pay taxes according to their actual wealth.

It was then estimated, also, that the corporation tax yield would be about $25,000,000, these two special taxes bringing into the government more than $100,000,000. The revenue was designed to make up an estimated loss in customs duties of a similar amount due to a reduction of many duties which the Democrats held were in excess of what they should be and formed a protection of a few special interests and industries. Treasury statistics show that the customs collections for last year were over $50,000,000 less than for the preceding year.

Early in the European war Senator Simmons, Representative Oscar W. Underwood and other administration leaders passed a war tax internal revenue measure levying special taxes on luxury and income taxes. From this source it was expected to collect $35,000,000. This, with the income taxes, was expected to more than make up all losses due to reduced customs duties and falling off in imports and give the treasury ample funds for necessary public works.

That there has been a grave miscalculation in all these estimates is demonstrated by the present low condition of the general fund in the treasury and the deficit of more than $100,000,000 which has been piled up since the Democrats assumed control of the administration.

Receipts From Income Tax.

The New York Sun is not disposed to agree with those Democrats who see in the increased income tax receipts for this year evidence of the country's prosperity. The Sun makes two good points in figuring out why the receipts should be larger this year: "There are several reasons," says the Sun, "why income tax returns should run larger than last year. The collection a year ago was not made on the basis of a full year's income. This of itself is almost enough to account for the excesses which now appear. Again, in all likelihood, there are more taxpayers, not because of increases in incomes, which have brought the record and the tax-paying class of selected citizens who have been singled out for a compulsory subsidy to government, but because the law has become better known."

Republican Presidential Timber.

Seldom has a party possessed presidential timber of such superior quality as that possessed by the Republicans at the present moment. All of it is good and seasoned. Any stick of it would make a safe and substantial prop. If a dark horse issues from the Republican national convention he will have to possess very rare points, or the party will not have improved its opportunity or have met the emergency.

Party Reunited.

In the last national election the Republicans divided and destroyed their own chances. Instructed by that folly, the Republicans are reuniting, and at present promise to come to the scratch next year in much of their old formation. It will take a tremendous effort to convert the Democracy from a minority to a majority party.

Revision of the Tariff.

Necessity compels the Democrats to consider another revision of the tariff before the next presidential election. They must have money to run the government, and the Underwood tariff, though professedly to raise revenue and for no other purpose, falls far short of bringing in enough. Hence the administration is considering a "correction" of certain schedules and that sugar will not go on the free list next year, as provided by the Underwood law.—Portland Oregonian.

Many a man who is long on religion is short when the collection plate is passed.—Aurora Beacon News.

USE OF THE CASSEROLE

NOT A SPOONFUL OF ANYTHING EDIBLE NEED BE WASTED.

Tasty and Nourishing Dishes Can Be Prepared From Scraps of Meat and Vegetables—Hints for the Cook.

When the making over old cold meats into warm dishes is in question consider the casserole. By its use even the smallest scraps of meat, vegetables, sauces and gravies can be used up. Not a spoonful of anything edible need go to waste.

When the Sunday joint of roast beef has been served hot and then cold, make a delicious lunch or supper of the remains. The peas are heated and placed in layers in the casserole after a dinner. In the bottom of the casserole put sliced potatoes, a carrot and a couple of onions, small, chopped, and, if on hand, a few mushrooms. Over this pour the gravy from the meat, or, if this has been thrown away, add water seasoned with pepper and salt. Put on the cover and bake in a slow oven for an hour. Half an hour before serving lay the cold meat on top of the vegetables, replace the cover, and continue the baking.

Cold roast of lamb will prove a very tasty dish cooked in a casserole with green peas. The peas are heated and placed in layers in the casserole alternately with slices of the lamb. The liquor in which the peas were boiled is thickened and poured over, the casserole being set in the oven until the meat has heated through. Served with mashed potatoes, the appetizing meal is the result. When cold peas or other vegetables are on hand a white sauce can be poured over, or any gravy that may be available. The liquor from the peas is not absolutely necessary, though it adds to the nutriment of the dish.

A very delicate dish for a dainty lunch or a meal for an invalid is a combination of chicken and mushrooms prepared in a casserole. The mushrooms are fried in butter very lightly, then a tablespoonful of flour mixed with a scant cupful of milk is poured in and cooked until creamy. The mushrooms and cold chicken are packed into the casserole in alternate layers and the creamy sauce poured over until the contents are heated through evenly.

A novel way of using up cold rice is to cover the bottom of the casserole with it in quite a thick layer, and re-cook it with raw eggs. Make as many depressions in the rice as there are eggs to be cooked and drop one egg (broken) into each space. Season with salt and pepper and pop bits of butter over rice and eggs.

A still more unusual dish is made from cold veal. About one cupful of the meat diced is mixed with one dozen almonds chopped and blanched, salt and pepper to taste and a dash of paprika. This mixture is held together with a beaten egg and formed into small balls. These are laid in a casserole and covered with stewed tomatoes. The cover is put on and the dish put into the oven for half an hour or so.

Pear Marmalade.
Choose nice, fine flavored pears; pare, core and quarter and drop into cold water. When ready to use drain and weigh, and to each pound of fruit allow three-fourths of a pound of sugar. Four or five just enough water to cover and simmer until tender. Make a sirup with the sugar and some of the water in which the pears were boiled; add to this sirup lemons sliced very thin, using about one lemon to each six pounds of fruit. Boil the sirup until thick, then add the pears and simmer until they are clear. Pack fruit into jars and pour the sirup over.

Delicious Lemon Pudding.
The juice and grated rind of one lemon, one cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs, three well-beaten egg-whites, one cupful of flour, one pint of milk. Mix the flour and part of the milk to a smooth paste, add the lemon, sugar, yolks of eggs well beaten and rest of milk. Line baking dish with rich pastry rolled about one-quarter inch thick. Bake in good oven. Beat whites to a stiff froth, add two tablespoons of sugar, spread over the top, return to oven to brown. Serve cold.

Bisque Cream.
One-half pound peanut brittle, one pint thick cream. Put the brittle through the food chopper, whip the cream, combine mixtures, pour into a mold, seal on the cover and bury in equal parts of ice and salt for four hours.

When Making Juicy Pies.
In making a juicy pie try heating an egg light and mixing in the sugar required by the fruit. Add a little flour, mix thoroughly and then bake as usual. In this way excess of juice will be in the pie and not in the bottom of the oven.

Cut up the meat in small pieces, add onions and cold water to cover them, let boil until the onions (cut up) are done, then add diced potatoes and the thickened gravy, and salt, if needed. It makes a very easy and cheap dish of leftovers.

Curried Tomatoes.
Chop an onion and an apple fine and fry them in butter, season to taste with curry powder and add a cupful of stock or hot water in which a beef cube has been dissolved. Pour over fried tomatoes and serve very hot.

About all the praise usually accorded the careful man is that he is "frickity."

FELT IN THE HEART

Many Things in Religion That Cannot Be Explained by Cold Intellect.

The prayer which Paul offered for his Ephesian friends seems to be a particularly daring one. A great deal of effort has been put forth to explain the paradox in the crowning petition of that prayer. He asks that his friends may be enabled "to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge." Is that not a strange thing to seek? Is this man merely playing with words? Is he indulging in meaningless hyperbole? Is there any real significance in this peculiar power of conviction?

It is well to remind ourselves that this rare petition suggests a simple truth and one of present importance. There are some things in religion which can be felt, but cannot be explained. Experience goes where knowledge cannot travel. There are feelings which defy analysis. Our logic stumps and huts when we undertake to explain and classify some of the deeper things of the religious life. There are many things which it is quite impossible to know in the sense of understanding them. At this point they are too high for us. We cannot attain unto that height.

There is a good deal that is mystical about the spiritual life. Some have with disparaging thought dismissed, possibly, of these deeper experiences. They have been called "the mystics." Perhaps the average of us does not think enough about them. It has been the tendency among Scotch Presbyterians to emphasize the logical and intellectual somewhat at the expense of the mystical and the emotional. The latter deserves emphasis as well as the former. It is well to remember that the most precious things of the Christian life are the things that go beyond analysis. Paul had a remarkable experience in that he heard unexplainable words—things beyond the power of our limited human speech to express. To him it was to be in the third heaven for a time. There are privileges like that awaiting believers.

Logic Cannot Always Explain.

Things we cannot know with the intellect can be known by the heart. Things which cannot be explained may nevertheless be profoundly felt and may bring rich and joyful experiences with them. The knowledge of experience reaches heights to which the reason cannot climb.

We do not speak soberly when we say that our present and pressing need is to know the love of Christ in this experimental way. The love of Christ passeth knowledge. It is something that defies our analysis. Our logic is powerless to explain it. Cold reason fails limp when it tries to explore the glowing mysteries of the immeasurable love of Jesus Christ to men. The breadth and length and height and depth are beyond all mind. It surpasses knowledge.

But this thing which we cannot explain fully can be known in an enriching experience. Nothing means so much to a Christian life as actually to feel the warmth and glow of the love of Jesus. That is the supreme privilege of the children of God. That is the joy which lies in the heart of real conversion. Nothing exceeds it. Nothing excels it.

We suggest that each Christian may well make the crowning petition of this old prayer his own personal petition. There will be large success in all of those activities if they are inspired by a personal experience of the love of Christ. There will be great achievements when all the folk in the church come to know Christ's love with this experimental knowledge. Happy are all they who, leaving the "freezing reason's cold part," concerning all these enriching things of the religious life can confidently say: "I have felt."—United Presbyterian.

"EXPEDIENT THAT I GO AWAY"

Henry Drummond's Beautiful Idea of the Thoughts of Jesus at the Grave of Lazarus.

One day when Jesus was in Perea, a message came to him that a very dear friend was sick. He lived in a distant village with his two sisters. They were greatly concerned about their brother's illness, and had sent in haste for Jesus. Now Jesus loved Mary, and Martha, and Lazarus their brother; but he was so situated at the time that he could not go. Perhaps he was too busy, perhaps he had other similar cases on hand; at all events, he could not go. When he went ultimately, it was too late. Hour after hour the sisters waited for him. They could not believe he would not come; but the slow hours dragged themselves along by the dying man's couch, and he was dead and laid in the grave before Jesus arrived. You can imagine one of his thoughts, at least, as he stands and weeps by that grave with the inconsolable sisters—"It is expedient that I go away. I should have been present at his deathbed scene if I had not been away. I will depart and send the Comforter. There will be no summons of sorrow which he will not be able to answer. He will abide with me forever. Every where he will come and go. He will be like the noiseless, invisible wind, blowing all over the world wherever he listeth."—Henry Drummond.

Getting the Dollar From Under the Stump

How Up to Date Farmers Are Easily and Economically Realizing on Land Hitherto Impossible of Cultivation.

ABOUT 400,000,000 acres of land included in farms throughout the United States are unimproved. Figuring that each acre could be made to produce at least $25 worth of produce per year, there is approximately $10,000,000,000 production being lost annually. Quite a tidy figure. And when we take into consideration that in many cases it requires only the removal of sundry stumps and boulders to make this land profitable, it certainly looks as though something might be done to save the waste. "Stumping with dynamite" is both an economical, quick and labor saving method as well as one that is growing in popularity daily.

The method involved in the blasting of a stump is to confine a quantity of explosive in such a manner that when exploded the expanding gases will lift the stump out of the ground. To secure best results the charge should be placed in the soil well under the base of the stump at the point where the resistance offered to the force of the explosion will be equal on all sides. Where the soil is of a heavy clay or plastic nature a slow acting powder is preferable, such as farm powder or stumping powder. Where the earth is sandy or loose and is apt to permit the easy escape of gases a fast explosive, such as 40 to 60 per cent dynamite should be used. The condition of the soil with respect to moisture also has a great influence upon the amount of work that a certain quantity of powder will do. After heavy rains when the soil is saturated to the base of the stump and the subsoil is just damp is a most favorable condition.

No set rules as to the amount of powder necessary to blast a certain kind or size of stump can be given, since different conditions govern all cases. Two stumps of the same size, kind and age of cut, when one is grown on well drained soil where the roots must penetrate a great depth for water and the other is grown on soil where there is always water near the surface, will demand different treatment for extraction. The older stumps, especially if from timber free from resin, require less powder. The exact amount necessary for set conditions can, however, be readily determined with a little experimenting.

Few tools and supplies are required. A one and one-half inch wood auger will do. After boring four and one-half feet long, a medium sized crowbar, a round pointed shovel and a wooden tamping stick, together with the powder, fuse and caps, will serve to fill the

Explosives In Road Building

One of the newer methods of road building that is fast winning the endorsement of the better versed contractor is that of employing dynamite for reducing the heavy work.

Grading through hard ground or rock, for instance, is tedious and requires time and labor. The use of dynamite for blasting such material is a welcome relief. Both rock and hard clay may be loosened in the cut by well placed charges of explosives if holes are drilled into the ground a little way up the bank and loaded. Careful spacing and loading for electrically fired blasts will result in bringing down both classes of materials in the best possible manner.

In loosening shale and rock to facilitate hand or steam shovel work dynamite is also very effective, while stumps may be blasted from the roadside just as though they were being removed from a field to be cleared and cultivated. Boulders also are easily shattered by suitable loading and when of hard rock may be crushed into surfacing stone. The side ditches as well as the long outfall ditches can also be blasted in keeping with the nature of the ground. In fact, there are no limits practically to the many uses and advantages of dynamite for road building when care and thoughtful attention is given to the work.

Incidentally the planting of shade trees for roadside improvement and attractiveness is greatly facilitated by the judicious use of a little dynamite. It is a recognized fact that trees planted in blasted holes grow much more rapidly and progress more favorably than those planted in the average spade dug ground.

The St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet Company has sold its steamer Speed to the Green River Line at Evansville, Ind.

Captain T. J. Hall's sandboat, Junco, which was sunk at Nine Mile, will be raised by the towboat Fred Hall at Cairo. The Hall is in command of John Dunvan. Peter Jennings, the expert diver, will go down and patch the side of the vessel where she was stove in.

The narrow pass at Dam No. 13, several miles below Moundsville, was responsible for the long delay of the big towboats Harry Brown, Charlie Brown, Tom Dodsword and the smaller boats, Volcano and Sam Barnum, which were bound down with heavy tows of coal.

The Crescent Navigation Company is a new firm organized to place a new rapid transit gasoline boat line between Owensboro and Rockport, Ind., within the next few weeks. The new company's boats will make six trips daily, making connections with the traction cars for Evansville, Ind.

The hell on the gasoline boat, Helen, which burned near Dover Tuesday, is the same that formerly did service on the old Boston and is prized very highly by Mr. Taylor, who has refused an offer of $300 for it. The bell is of silver composition and is said to have cost, originally, $1,000. It was not lost, but dropped into the hull of the boat when it burned away.

City of Parkersburg, which towed Dore's water carnival that was here during the summer, and disbanded at Cairo, will winter at Pleasant. The boat had misfortunes on her ill-starred trip with the circus. She ran into a pier at Clinton, Ia., which cost $50 before she could proceed; blew a cylinder head; on two different occasions tore her boiler down, which broke both cylinder timbers and partially wrecked her cabin; stranded six slight barges, and later the night was solved for debt at St. John W. Hubbard, of Pittsburgh, owner of the boat, and a millionaire.

SURE-ENOUGH REVIVAL

Woman Prays Thirty-Six Hours For Her Husband's Conversion. When He Saw the Devil.

The revival meetings which have been in progress at the island Creek Tabernacle in Boyd county for some weeks, are to be continued indefinitely under the leadership of M. C. Reynolds, assisted by Miss Faith Clere, of Coalton, Ky., who has charge of the music.

The revival is enjoying a phenomenal success. Hundreds of people are attending the daily meetings, and a large crowd from Pikeville is also on hand every day. Many are being healed by the great work of the revival and seven persons have been sanctified since the beginning of the meetings, while twenty-seven have been converted, and one night recently sixteen persons hit the trail and scores have asked for the prayers of the Christian people.

Mr. B. Justice, who was recently converted, tells a sensational story of how he was brought to repentance. His wife had prayed for him for thirty hours without ceasing, and at 11 o'clock at night he declared Satan appeared to him, and Mrs. Justice corroborates the story. He fell upon his knees imploring mercy, and he did not cease his prayers until 4 o'clock next afternoon, when Mr. Reynolds says he was converted. But during the night he kept the neighborhood astir with his wailing and loud supplication, and neighbors came and prayed with him. He declares that God was forced to take unusual steps to bring him to repentance and it required the uncapping of hell before his eyes to convince him.

TROUBLE DON'T KILL

If It Did, This Woman Would Have Been Dead Half Century Ago.

Noting the death of Mrs. Nancy Newman, known as "the trouble woman of Hancock county," the writer has this to say of her:

"She was the last of thirteen brothers and sisters, whose stepfather, Captain John Sterrett, was the first sheriff of the county. Her youngest child was scalded to death in a tanning vat. The second was burned to death two weeks afterward. The third, a Confederate soldier, was murdered in a riot at Mobile, Ala. The fourth was killed two years ago when a house fell on him. The fifth met death in a runaway five years ago. A son-in-law and a grandson met violent deaths, and two weeks ago she fell and broke her leg."

MARRIED IN 1867

Boyd County Man Brings Suit For Divorce After Forty-eight Years of Married Life.

More than forty-eight years after his marriage, Charles Fortune, of Boyd county, brought suit against Nancy J. Fortune for divorce, in Boyd county Circuit Court yesterday.

The couple were married in Ironton, August 23.

No reason is given for the desired divorce in the bill of complaint, except that the couple has not been living together for five years. Both are of advanced age.

OWENS-POLLOCK.

The wedding of Miss Nell Owens to Mr. James Coburn Pollock, of Louisville, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodorick Owens, near Germantown, Thursday, October 21, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. Oscar Keller officiating.

The bride looked beautiful, attired in a gown of white satin embroidered in silver roses, and carried a shower bouquet of Killarney roses, sweet peas and southern smilax. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Owens, sister of the bride, was charmingly dressed in a gown of pink tulle.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Charles Owens, of Toronto, Canada.

The groom was attended by his friend, Mr. Leith Watkins, of Louisville.

The house was artistically decorated with a profusion of palms, ferns and southern smilax. In the dining-room delightful refreshments were served to about 100 guests.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Maysville, boarding a C. & O. train there for Louisville, where they will make their home.

THE EXPRESS COMPANY AND THE TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

While the new "city fathers" will have many new and old questions to consider, there is one that interests the people east of Union street.

Uncle Sam delivers his mail and likewise his parcel post to all parts of Maysville, but when it comes to the telegraph and express companies, they stop at Union street going east, unless the coin of the realm is produced to induce them to come on.

Is there an old ordinance on the city records that gives them this right? If so, some one should look it up and have it repealed.

Those companies are always heralding how cheaply they work for the common people. Now, come across, and a thousand or fifteen hundred people east of Union street will thank you, or shall you wait until compelled to do so by a city ordinance.

Dr. Magnus Hopper, of New York, was in Maysville on Friday, the guest of his brother, C. C. Hopper.

LEWIS COUNTY MAN

Held To Federal Grand Jury, Charged With Bootlegging.

Ivan Thack Conn, of Lewis county, formerly of Elliott county, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshals on Ruddle creek, Eastern Kentucky, Monday, charged with bootlegging and moonshining, and was held to the Federal grand jury, which convenes in December, by United States Commissioner Joe Spears, at Catlettsburg.

Deputy Marshals raided and confiscated a still last Saturday, but did not get Conn, who was taken in a warrant. According to the charges, Conn was manufacturing apple brandy. A license to sell liquor had been issued to him about the time he was arrested. The Federal authorities say this does not alter the status of the bootlegging charge.

One witness swore that Thack Conn was seen working at the still the marshals raided.

There is considerable moonshining in Pike and Floyd counties, according to the Federal authorities, and other raids are anticipated in the near future. Ruddle creek is in one of the wildest and most desolate sections of this State.
